High value consolidation process is key

In an economic world where the challenges in financial performance are major, groups have to prepare timely, relevant and reliable financial data to communicate with various internal and external stakeholders. This process has become increasingly complex and demanding over the past few years.

Legal requirements for detailed financial information, enhanced scrutiny from regulators, banks and tax administrations, higher complexity of accounting standards and shorter reporting deadlines reinforce the need to master every aspect of your consolidation.

The financial statements consolidation process is, therefore, crucial and requires an in-depth review in terms of organisation, system, team, knowledge and a continuous development of your consolidation function. Thanks to a strong and tailored consolidation process, your group is able to communicate effectively and timely on its financial performance.

Your challenges

Shorter delays in the consolidation reporting: reduce reporting time, speed-up consolidation process and meet regulator deadline.

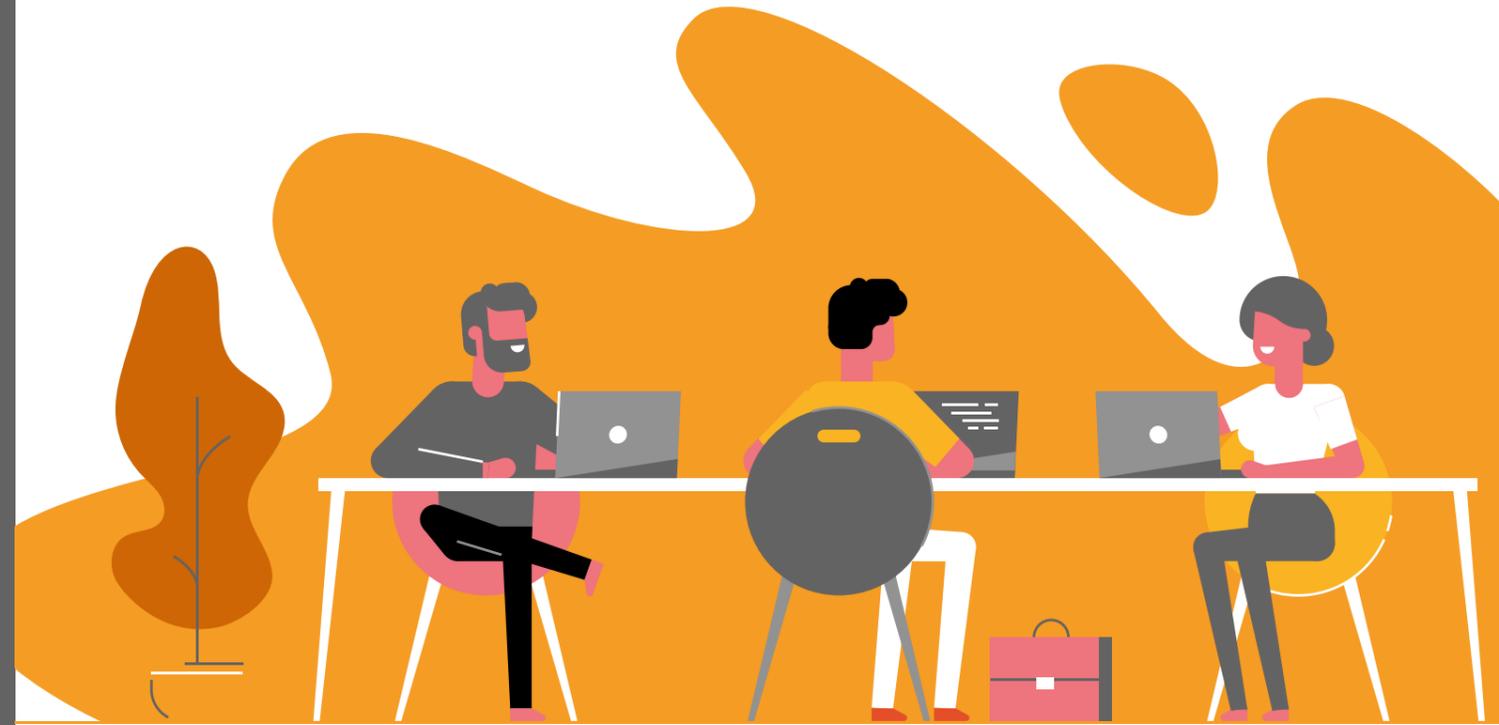

Accounting standards more and more complex: support on business combination, new IFRS standards, bank covenants and complex transactions.

Digitisation of the market: a performing consolidation tool adapted to your specificities to gain in efficiency, quality and improve data collection.

Lack of internal resources: an efficient outsourcing of the consolidation to focus on core business.

Change in legislation landscape: enhance the technical and regulatory knowledge of your team.

Are you ready to face those challenges?
