

www.pwc.lu/cybersecurity

DPO function implementation and review

Data privacy has gained plenty of public exposure thanks to supervisory authorities conducting GDPR awareness campaigns, but especially by issuing fines. Perhaps thanks to awareness campaigns, a significant amount of fines have been a result of a complaint being submitted to the authorities, who have conducted investigations, finding discrepancies between the GDPR requirements and their enforcement by the companies.

As DPOs around Europe are having to deal with GDPR-savvy data subjects, are their employers sufficiently prepared to meet all GDPR requirements to satisfy data subjects' requests and the investigations of the supervisory authorities? How can organisations ensure they have taken into consideration all GDPR requirements? Ensuring proper treatment of data subject requests and timely notification of a data breach alone will not suffice in a GDPR compliance journey. Proper documentation, staff awareness of the impacts of the GDPR on an organisation as well as a mature IT infrastructure are cornerstones of ensuring Privacy rules are respected.

Your challenges

- How is data privacy organised in your company?
- Is your data privacy manager or DPO properly equipped to cope with the regulator's expectations?
- How can you demonstrate accountability with GDPR on paper and in practice?
- Have you assessed all data privacy risks?
- Can you react in 72 hours should a data breach happen?

Our Data Privacy team can help you tackle these challenges!

How we can help

Why PwC Luxembourg?

We always have our clients interest in mind and this is what drives our business. We exchange ideas and gather information from our clients on a regular basis, ensuring fully tailored solutions. In addition, we have a multi-disciplinary team focusing on regulatory, operations, data, control and audit, who is well recognised on the Luxembourg marketplace, thus ensuring our missions are delivered with the people who best fit our clients' requirements. Along with PwC Legal* for the legal side, we have expertise enabling us to offer comprehensive solutions, which is a one-of-a kind in Luxembourg. We have also had the privilege to share knowledge and experience with key stakeholders in the privacy space, enabling us to share market best practices with each and every one of our clients.

*PwC Legal is an independent law firm registered with the Luxembourg bar and member of the PwC network

Success stories

Over the last few years, we grew a privacy practice that assisted organisations from a broad industry spectrum to address their compliance with GDPR. From small companies to large corporates, we engage with all sort of organisations to deliver focused and tailored privacy solutions.

For more information, please contact:

Frédéric Vonner

Partner

+352 49 48 48 4173

frederic.vonner@lu.pwc.com

Antonin Jakobse

Senior Manager

+352 49 48 48 4412

antonin.jakubse@lu.pwc.com

